OPPOSER’S MOTION TO DISMISS

Opposer Threshold Enterprises Ltd. (“Threshold” “Opposer”) hereby moves, pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6), for an order (1) dismissing the First Counterclaim asserted by applicant Glanbia Nutritionals (Ireland) Limited (“GNIL” or “Applicant”) with respect to U.S. Reg. No. 1,909,705 (the “ ‘705 Reg.”), and (2) dismissing the Second Counterclaim filed by GNIL in its entirety.

I. GNIL’S FIRST CLAIM MUST BE DISMISSED AS TO THE ‘705 REG. BECAUSE SECTION 2(e) IS NOT A VALID BASIS FOR CANCELLATION OF A REGISTRATION THAT IS MORE THAN FIVE YEARS OLD

In its First Counterclaim, GNIL seeks cancellation of ‘705 Reg. under Section 2(e) of the Lanham Act¹, on the grounds that the mark is deceptively misdescriptive.

The ‘705 Reg. is more than five years old. Declaration of Jessica Bromall Sparkman filed concurrently herewith (“Sparkman Decl.”), ¶ 2, Exhs. A-B. The ‘705 Reg. issued on August 8, 1995. Id. The date of issuance is an objective fact, easily determined by reference to the records of the Trademark Office, and the Board is permitted to look to the records of the Trademark Office to determine objective facts relating to registration that is the subject of the proceeding before it, such as the date on which the registration issued. See Compagnie Gervais Danone v. Precision Formulations LLC, 89 U.S.P.Q.2d 1251, 1256 (T.T.A.B. 2009) (“[T]here are facts the Board may consider when a party has filed a motion to dismiss . . . [including] the filing date, filing basis, priority date, publication, and applicant’s name . . .”).

Section 14 provides that registrations more than five years old can only be cancelled on the specific grounds identified in that Section. 15 U.S.C. § 1064. The ground for cancellation alleged by GNIL, that Threshold’s mark is deceptively misdescriptive under Section 2(e), is not identified in Section 14 as a valid ground for cancelling a registration that is more than five years old. Id.

Thus, GNIL fails to state a claim for cancellation of the ‘705 Reg., and its First Claim for Relief must be dismissed to the extent it seeks cancellation of the ‘705 Reg.

II. GNIL’S SECOND CLAIM MUST BE DISMISSED BECAUSE GNIL FAILS TO ALLEGE OWNERSHIP OF VALID TRADEMARK RIGHTS, AN ESSENTIAL ELEMENT OF A CLAIM UNDER SECTION 2(d)

GNIL seeks cancellation of Threshold’s U.S. Reg. No. 4,837,774 for SOURCE (the “SOURCE Registration”) under Section 2(d). To state a claim for relief under Section 2(d), GNIL must plead both (1) ownership of prior rights in a trademark, and (2) Threshold’s use of SOURCE is likely to cause confusion with that trademark. Hornby v. TJX Companies Inc., 87 U.S.P.Q.2d 1411, 1421 (T.T.A.B. 2008).

The first element, ownership of prior rights in a trademark, is an essential element of a claim under Section 2(d). One who makes a claim under Section 2(d) “is attempting to protect his individual rights, as the owner of some means of identifying the source of his goods.” Otto Roth & Co., Inc. v. Universal Foods Corp., 640 F.2d 1317, 209 U.S.P.Q. 40, 43 (C.C.P.A. 1981). “Under Section 2(d) . . . confusion, or a likelihood thereof, is not recognized where one claiming to be aggrieved by that confusion does not have a right superior to his opponent’s” Id. at 44-45.

Here, GNIL fails to allege any facts in support of this required element of a Section 2(d) claim. Nowhere in its Counterclaim does GNIL allege ownership of prior rights in any trademark. GNIL does not allege that it is the owner of any of the registrations identified in Exhibit B to its Counterclaim. Furthermore, review of the TESS database reveals that GNIL is, in fact, not the owner of record of any of the registrations identified in Exhibit B to its Counterclaim.² Sparkman Decl., ¶ 3, Exh. C.

If, as is the case here, a claimant “does not have a proprietary interest in . . . the mark which it pleads as the basis for a likelihood of confusion ground, it must have some other legitimate interest in preventing confusion between the pleaded mark . . . and the mark” to which it is objecting. Holmes Products Corp. v. Duracraft Corp., 30 U.S.P.Q.2d 1549, 1552 (T.T.A.B. 1994) (finding no legitimate interest and entering summary judgment on the Section 2(d) claim). This “legitimate interest is a necessary element of a ground of likelihood of confusion predicated on the third-party registrations.” Id.

The facts here are directly parallel to the facts in Holmes. There, the claimant opposed registration of the mark TURBO by asserting numerous third-party registrations of marks containing the term “turbo.” Id. at 1550-1551. Here, GNIL seeks cancellation of Threshold’s SOURCE marks by asserting third-party registrations containing the term “source.” In Holmes, the claimant asserted that it used the mark TURBO, although it did not allege ownership of rights that predated the applicant’s. Id. at 1552. Here, GNIL seeks registration of marks containing the term “source,” but does not allege that it owns rights in any of the those marks, or in SOURCE itself, that are earlier than Threshold’s SOURCE Registration.

² The Board may look to the Trademark Office records to confirm objective facts, such as the name of the owner of a registration. See Compagnie Gervais Danone, 89 U.S.P.Q.2d at 1256.

In Holmes, the board found that the claimant “is not the owner of the registrations pleaded in the notice of opposition; . . . has not alleged any privity with the owners of the registrations or any legal or equitable interest in the trademarks themselves.” Id. at 1550. Under these circumstances, the board determined that the claimant in Holmes lacked the legitimate interest necessary to support assertion of third-party rights. Id. at 1552.

Here, as in Holmes, GNIL is not the owner of the registrations, has not alleged any privity with any owner of any registration, and has not alleged any legal or equitable interests in any of the asserted registrations, or in any trademark that predates the SOURCE Registration. Here, like the claimant in Holmes, GNIL fails to allege facts to establish the “necessary element” of a legitimate interest in asserting the third-party registrations.

In Holmes, the board recognized the potential for mischief if third-party registrations could be asserted absent this legitimate interest, noting that it could “lead to the result that a business competitor . . . would be able to harass the applicant simply by searching the register and asserting the ground of likelihood of confusion based on any marks it happened to find there.” Id. at 1552. Furthermore, the board rightly recognized that it was unacceptable to allow claims to proceed where the interests of the party asserting the right diverged from the owner of the right. Id.

If GNIL's claim is allowed to proceed, this case will become a logistical nightmare. Threshold will be forced to investigate each of the more than sixty third-party registrations asserted by GNIL. Third-party subpoenas and other discovery will issue. Depending on the cooperation of these third-parties, motions to compel may become necessary in one or more district courts. It may be necessary for Plaintiff to assert counterclaim for cancellation of one or more the registrations. Ultimately, the parties will then brief and argue, and the Board will have to decide, the question of likelihood of confusion with respect to each of these registrations. Threshold's legal costs will balloon. The owners of the third-party registrations will also be forced to incur legal costs, either in connection with subpoenas and other discovery, or to defend their registrations against cancellation actions occasioned by GNIL's assertion of the third-party's registration against Threshold. This result is obviously untenable.

Thus, GNIL's Second Counterclaim under Section 2(d) must be dismissed.

III. GNIL'S FIRST AND SECOND COUNTERCLAIMS MUST BE DISMISSED

Accordingly, for all the reasons stated herein, Threshold respectfully requests that the Board issue an order (1) dismissing GNIL's First Counterclaim with respect to the '705 Reg., and (2) dismissing the Second Counterclaim filed by GNIL in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
